have approved. My understanding is that, by the terms in paragraph 4.a., we would retain ownership and custody of the final and most advanced electronic model of the proposed vehicle. I use the word "model" 25X1A to refer to the full-scale mock-up on which measurements were conducted 25X1Aat I assume we will also retain in our possession or receive complete records of the electronic measurements on this mock-up. I believe it is essential that we retain these items for possible use in the unlikely contingency that the A-12 develops serious electronics troubles and that we wish to demonstrate to Lockheed the electronic performance achieved with an alternate configuration. My approval is contingent on the correctness of the above understanding as to our retention of these items.
